WEBSITE REVIEW FOR CLAYTON PLASTERING & TUCKPOINTING

ELWARD AI DEV LLC · NOVEMBER 2026

Your work is better than your website.

Six generations of plaster, a ballroom cornice cast and set by hand, and a 4.4 on Google. A phone visitor to your site today sees a pop-up and a headline that could belong to anybody. We built a preview of what it could be, using your own photos and reviews. Here's what's missing now, what we fixed, and what you get.

YOUR SITE TODAY

First screen on an iPhone

A “Let’s Talk!” pop-up covers the bottom within seconds. The headline says “St. Louis’ Choice Plastering & Tuckpointing Service.” No rating, no sixth generation, none of your best work.

THE PREVIEW

Same phone, same first screen

What you do, where, 4.4 on Google, BBB A+, sixth generation and free estimates, with a call button. Call and Text stay pinned to the bottom. No pop-ups.

What's missing, and what we fixed

Everything on the left was checked on your live site on November 9, 2026.

YOUR SITE TODAY	IN THE PREVIEW
Your best work isn't on it The Park Royal ballroom repair, the cast ornament, your before-and-afters and your videos only live on Facebook. The site's gallery photos are small and there's no video.	Your best work leads The ballroom told in four photos, two before-and-after pairs, three job clips and about 30 of your own photos, each with a caption.
No easy way to send a photo Plaster quotes start with a picture of the damage. The site only offers a contact form and a scheduling pop-up.	"Match my wall" Three taps (where it is, what happened, the closest finish) write the text for them. They attach a photo and send it to your number. Every finish swatch is cut from one of your jobs.
Out of date It still says 5th generation. The home page says "Since 2004," the About page says "late 1980's." Google lists Monday 8–4; the site says 8–5.	Sixth generation, front and center "Est. six generations ago." Dates, hours and service area wait for your OK, so nothing on the page is a guess.
Two dead links send people away The website link on your Facebook page and the one on your BBB profile both go to old Google pages that now show "404 Not Found."	Every link points home We'll point Facebook, BBB and your Google Business Profile at the new site the day it goes live.

Reviews nobody can check Testimonials show a first name and last initial, no date and no source. Your 4.4 Google rating isn't on the site.	Reviews with names and dates Quoted word for word with full name, date and where it was posted, plus your Google and BBB ratings with an "as of" date.
Slow, and hard to use for some visitors Phones wait over 6 seconds for the main content. Automated tests find 70 accessibility errors across 7 pages: buttons and links with no label, photos with no description, low-contrast text. Those are the errors ADA demand-letter scanners look for.	Fast, and tested Main content in about 2 seconds. Zero automated accessibility errors, checked by keyboard, with an Accessibility page that tells people how to report a problem.
Small things that cost trust "EFIS" (it's EIFS) on two pages. A "100% satisfaction guarantee" on the commercial page that promises more than the one-year workmanship promise on your BBB profile. The pop-up is a third-party tool that sets tracking cookies.	Promises you can stand behind Spelled right. Only claims you can back up, and anything we couldn't verify is marked for you to confirm. No pop-ups, no tracking pixels.

The numbers

Same tests, same day, on a simulated mid-range phone.

What you get

Built and live now

- A homepage made from your own photos, clips and reviews
- “Match my wall”: the text-a-photo tool for quotes
- The Park Royal ballroom story
- Six-generation family story
- Before-and-afters and silent job clips with pause buttons
- How a job goes, hours, payments and straight answers to first-call questions
- Call and Text pinned to the bottom of every phone screen
- Draft Privacy, Terms and Accessibility pages

In the full build

- The homepage, finished with your confirmed details
- Five service pages: plaster repair, ornamental plaster, stucco & EIFS, tuckpointing & masonry, commercial
- Family history page and a Park Royal project page
- Contact page with a real estimate form, spam protection and text-message consent done the way carriers require
- Pages for the towns you serve
- Final Privacy, Terms and Accessibility pages that match what the site does
- Visitor counts with no cookies, ad pixels or session recording
- Facebook, BBB and Google pointed at the new site

What we need from you

Each of these shows on the preview as a small pencil note. Ten minutes on the phone covers most of them.

- ✎ Your Google review count, and two or three Google reviews to feature
- ✎ Your hours (the site and Google disagree)
- ✎ The towns and neighborhoods you cover
- ✎ License and insurance details
- ✎ OK to show crew photos and to name the Park Royal
- ✎ Who's in the old crew photo, and roughly when
- ✎ That your number takes texts and photos
- ✎ Full-size originals of your best photos (Facebook only shares crops)

Next step: a 15-minute walkthrough.

Open clayton-plastering-preview.vercel.app on your phone and try "Match my wall." Then reply to Aaron's text and we'll walk through it at a job or over the phone, whichever is easier.

Prepared by Elward AI Dev LLC for Clayton Plastering & Tuckpointing only. The preview is private, hidden from search engines, and will be taken down if you pass. Photos and clips are from your own website and Facebook page.
